Jackie Coogans Admit Divorce Near

HOLLYWOOD, (UP)—"The Kid" who once made millions and the girl with the "million dollar legs" sadly agreed today that their romance had ended and they should be legally divorced.

She is Betty Grable, 23, a rising Hollywood star; he is Jackie Coogan, 25, earner of millions as a screen juvenile but now comparatively a pauper relegated to infrequent "bit" parts.

Dr. William J. Mayo Is Stricken

ROCHESTER, Minn., (UP)—Dr. William J. Mayo, 78, who with his brother, the late Dr. Charles Mayo, founded and developed the famed Mayo Clinic, died at his home today.

Japs Claim 3,000 Killed In Russia Border War

HSINGKING, Manchukuo, (UP)—Japanese army authorities said that the Manchukuo-outer Mongolia border was quiet today.

Summarizing fighting on the frontier since May 20, they said 3,000 Russians had been killed, 715 Russian planes shot down and 90 prisoners and much stores and equipment captured.

$39,750,000 In Gold Is Returned To Spain

MONT DE MARSAN, France, (UP)—Six big motor trucks started for Spain under heavy troop guard today with $39,750,000 in gold bars, sent to France by the Republicans during the civil war and now being handed over to the nationalists.

CONGRESS NEAR ADJOURNMENT

Lending-Spending Bill, Relief Wage Matter May Delay Session's End

By RONALD B. VAN TINE
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, (UP)—Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley, D., Ky., announced today that he would keep the senate in session until tomorrow morning, if necessary, to pass President Roosevelt's $2,490,000,000 lending-spending bill.

The rush toward adjournment from the capital's 92 degree heat appeared started in earnest.

"We intend to make every effort to get the bill through today," said Barkley, who wrote the lending bill and has been piloting it through the senate. "There is no reason why we shouldn't finish it."

The house begins consideration of a segment of the program — an $800,000,000 additional loan authorization for the housing authority. Four hours of debate started at noon, but house leaders believed action would not be completed until tomorrow.

The adjournment date may hinge on the action taken tonight at a caucus of house democrats. It was called by administration supporters in an effort to overcome attempts by a republican-conservative democratic coalition to defeat the lending program.

The date may depend even more on a maneuver in the senate to restore the prevailing wage principle to the new work relief law.

Sen. Pat McCarran, D., Nev., was expected to offer a "rider" to the lending bill today.

Shark Fishing New Industry

Packers Pay $55 Per Ton; Science Values Livers For Their Vitamin A

SAN FRANCISCO, (UP)—Since the comparatively recent discovery that the livers of soup fin sharks constitute the best source of Vitamin A, shark fishing on the Pacific coast has become a million dollar industry.

With only six companies operating with specialized equipment now, and with the industry in its infancy, fishermen, reduction companies and packers alike predict that it is destined to become one of the greatest industries on the coast.

Fishing is being carried on from Mexico to Alaska. Last year, 2,500,000 sharks were caught in California waters while vast quantities of livers were sent here for reduction from other states.

At present packers are paying fishermen $55 a ton for sharks and 27 cents a pound for the livers alone.

The largest fleets are operating out of San Francisco, but as yet little has been done to equip them with special apparatus and implements as has been the case with the other fishing fleets on the Pacific coast. Special shark fishing fleets will be built, the fishermen declare, as soon as sufficient data have been accumulated to know the best basis on which such boats should be constructed.

NORTHWEST LUMBERERS WARNED OF NEED FOR CONSERVATION

PORTLAND, Ore., (UP)—Correlation between the average growth and average cutting of timber in the Pacific Northwest is badly needed, F. H. Brundage, associate regional forester for Oregon and Washington, told the Institute of Northwest Affairs at Reed College.

He charged that most of the lumber operators are still exploiting forests instead of using "sustained yield."

F. A. Silcox, chief U. S. forester, warned that the Northwest is faced by the same fate as that of the Great Lakes area. Millions of dollars are now being spent there, he said, to reforest exploited areas.

Silcox said the proportion of mill capacity in the Northwest is out of proportion to the supply of lumber. The difficulties encountered in selective logging were outlined by E. P. Stamm, logging superintendent of the Crown Williamette Paper Co. He said lumber tariffs do not afford enough protection for American production.

Visible Scar Society Has Eastern Rival

Placerville's "Society of Visible Scars" has a rival in Ann Arbor, Michigan, which is the home of the "Order of the Short Rib."

Just what is to be done about it is not known, since officers of the "Society of Visible Scars" were all out of town on Friday.

Membership in this order is reported as being exclusive to the extent that the applicant must possess a scar from some surgical operation. Tonsilectomies or having your teeth out just don't count.

The United Press reports that patients at Ann Arbor's University Hospital have formed the Mystic Order of the Short Rib. This should not be confused with the Amalgamated Association of the Spare Rib, although on second thought if the Short Ribs and the Spare Ribs could affiliate, they might have something.

The membership requirement is stiff and painful. It consists of surgery known as thoracoplasty, involving the removal of ribs for a delicate lung operation to relieve pulmonary tuberculosis. Survivors are eligible for life membership.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Tracy were returned from a visit of several weeks at San Francisco and Treasure Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Tubig were Friday business callers in the county seat.

B. E. Haslam and Miss Pat McCann, of the agricultural conservation association staff, were in Calaveras County on business Friday.

C. E. Olmstead, of El Dorado, is home from a visit to the veterans' hospital at Ft. Miles, where he underwent a physical check-up.

Mr. and Mrs. James Carder and daughter, Marilyn, of Kahoka, Missouri, stopped in Placerville Friday to call on the C. E. Barkers as a part of a vacation visit to California and the world's fair. Mr. Carder, who operates a service station at Kahoka, is a son of one of Mr. Barker's cousins. The Carders planned to visit in Bakersfield and also in Southern Oregon before returning home.

Visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Knacke, is the former's sister, Mrs. Adelaide Trefery, of southern California.

Logan Williams and son and Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Killian were here for a few days the first of the week, visiting Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Killian. The visitors were returning home to Los Angeles after a vacation and fishing trip on the Big Lost River in Idaho.

Mrs. Matthew Blair and daughter, Mary, were in Sacramento Thursday to meet Mr. Blair who was returning from San Francisco. He is reported as feeling much better after a few weeks illness.

Roosevelt Uncertain About 3rd Term

Forest Supervisor Edwin F. Smith Roosevelt is not ready yet to say he will announce intentions on a third term.

Asked at his press conference today if he was ready to say when the country might expect a statement of his third term intentions, Mr. Roosevelt grinned and said: No.

WORLD WAR SPARK SET OFF 25 YEARS AGO TODAY

Austria's Declaration Against Serbia Set Arries Of Eight Major Powers In Europe On March Within Ten Days

By RALPH HEINZEN
United Press Staff Correspondent

PARIS, (UP)—A quarter of a century ago today, on July 28, 1914, Austria declared war on Serbia in retaliation for the murder on St. Vitus Day, just a month earlier, of Archduke Francis and his wife, at Sarajevo.

That clash of two Danubian powers, the mighty and haughty dual empire of the lowly Serbs, was the spark which set off the World War which lasted four years and four months, threw 24 nations at each other, costing 10,000,000 dead, 19,000,000 other casualties, 9,000,000 orphans and 5,000,000 widows.

Events followed rapidly upon the Austro-Hungarian declaration of war on Serbia. Russia, great protector of the Slavs of Europe but, as events were to prove rapidly enough, merely an empty shell of a great kingdom, rose swiftly to Serbia's aid.

Germany in turn, mobilized to help Austria, her ally of the Central Powers. Italy, another member of that group, hesitated, bargained and finally jumped into the camp of the Allies in 1915.

Striking swiftly through Belgium to reach France and the coast, Germany brought Belgium, France and Britain into the war. Within 10 days after Vienna's declaration of war on Belgrade, eight major powers were at war.

The rapid march of conflict is best shown in a timetable:

July 18, 1914—Austria declared war on Serbia.

August 1—Central Powers declared war on Russia.

August 2—Russian army marched into Germany; German army invaded France at Cirey.

August 3—France and Central Powers mutually declared war.

August 4—Germany declared war on Belgium.

August 4—Britain declared war on Central Powers.

August 7—German army entered Liege, and Belgium declared war on Central Powers.

August 16—British expeditionary forces landed in France.

August 23—Japan declared war on Germany.

Before the end of August, 1914, however, the German army was planted in Belgium and the swinging operation through France had begun which was to lead, a month later, to the first crushing defeat of the Germans by Marshall Joffre in the First Battle of the Marne.

Before the end of the month, too, the Germans were to smash an entire wing of the Russian army when the Kaiser's Army of the East, led by Hindenburg and Ludendorff,

But in those hectic days of late July and early August, France had to put considerable pressure on Russia to oblige the Czar's armies to follow out the general staff plan. In the sequence of developments following the Austrian ultimatum to Serbia, Russia had threatened to

SACRAMENTO CENTENNIAL PROGRAM TO CLOSE ON AUGUST 12TH, ANNIVERSARY OF SUTTER'S LANDING AT SITE

SACRAMENTO—The concluding festivities of the Sacramento-Golden Empire Centennial celebration on Sacramento's 100th birthday, August 12 will be under the auspices of the Native Sons and Native Daughters of the Golden West.

The program of activities will conclude with carnival at Roarin' Camp, the evening being designated as Native Sons and Native Daughters Night. Members of parlor of the fraternal order in all parts of the state are being invited to attend. The eight Sacramento parlor are cooperating in the plans.

The program of August 12 will begin at 10 o'clock in the morning with the reenactment of the landing of General John A. Sutter at the mouth of the American River, depicting the arrival of the bold Swiss adventurer and his small party in 1839 after his trip up the Sacramento River from San Francisco Bay. A monument will be dedicated at the confluence of the Sacramento and American rivers.

In the afternoon a plaque honoring Sutter will be dedicated at ceremonies to be held in Sutter's Fort.

Roarin' Camp will be turned over to a Native Sons and Daughters program for the evening. Roy Clair, director of the mining town, announced that a special program of attractions is being arranged for the occasion. This is the concluding night of the operation of the camp, the fun center of the centennial.

August 12 also will be the concluding night of the Dawn of Gold, historical spectacle to be held at the Sacramento Stadium and the Native Sons and Daughters will be honored in the program there.

Welcome Home!

Looking more charming than ever, screen star Myrna Loy, in "The Sign of the Cross," arrives at New York after a vacation abroad.

Well, Folks, There Goes Mars; Look!

NEW YORK, (UP)—Weird sounds on the radio, strange rumblings and flashes at sea and the booming of army defense artillery accompanied Mars' passage within 36,000,000 miles of the Earth, but it appeared today that none of the phenomena was of any help to science.

The most scientific of the three was the attempt of the American museum of natural history to communicate with the red planet. Forty powerful short-wave receivers were turned to a variety of frequencies at the Baldwin, N. Y., station of Press Wireless, Inc., last night. Listeners heard many strange sounds, some of which led them to believe that Martians are members of the cat family. But it was decided that the sounds were merely terrestrial static.

Then radio engineers broadcast a long dash with a power of 20,000 watts directly at Mars. Dr. Clyde Fisher, curator of the museum's Hayden planetarium, said that if the radio beam struck Mars just right, it would bounce back in six and a half minutes. The 40 short-wave receivers were turned in and listeners sat tensely for 10 minutes. But nothing happened.

The strange rumblings and flashes out on the Atlantic ocean were caused by routine gunnery practice on the cruiser San Francisco off Ocean City, Md.

LEWIS' ATTACK STIRS CAPITAL

Considerable Section Of Congress Incensed At Charge Against Garner

United Press Staff Correspondent
By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON, (UP)—The question of whether Vice President John N. Garner is an evil oil man who plays poker, drinks whisky, and baits labor became a part of the 1940 pre-convention campaign today amid tumult of angry discussion.

A considerable section of congress is incensed by those charges made by President John L. Lewis of the Congress for Industrial Organizations.

But Lewis hit not only at Garner but at the entire conservative wing of the democratic party. He practically challenged them to put their man — any of their men — in the white house next year.

New dealers were slow to comment on the extraordinary situation created by Lewis' remarks. After Lewis finished, Chairman Mary T. Norton, D., N. J., of the house labor committee told him:

"Thank you, Mr. Lewis, for your very fine contribution to this meeting."

But she made the same remark after the testimony of each witness.

It was remarked here that Lewis' attack emphasized the fact that Garner has become the symbol of conservative democratic rebellion against the other wing of the political machine which helped elect President Roosevelt in 1932 and

Death Ordered For Burgunder

Attorney For Youth Who Slew Salesman Will Appeal Conviction

PHOENIX, Ariz., (UP)—Robert Burgunder, 22 year old convicted murderer of a Phoenix automobile salesman, was sentenced today to die in Arizona's lethal gas chamber on Oct. 6 despite a last minute attempt by his attorney to secure a retrial.

Superior Judge Arthur T. La Prade denied a motion for retrial and arrest of judgment made by Attorney C. T. McKinney and ordered Burgunder put to death by lethal gas as ordered by the all-male jury which 10 days ago found the youth guilty of slaying salesman Jack Peterson.

Neither of Burgunder's parents was in the courtroom to hear Judge La Prade set the date of execution. The youth's attorney said he would appeal the verdict to the state supreme court. The appeal will automatically give Burgunder a stay of execution until the high court announces its decision.

Veteran Lives 20 Years With Shrapnel In Heart

LONDON, (UP)—For 20 years William Cox, the sole survivor of a Lewis gun team among whom a shell exploded in 1918, had a piece of shrapnel in his heart without knowing it.

He recently developed heart trouble and the shrapnel, which was nearly an inch long, was discovered and removed. After a brief recovery he died of throat wounds.

MOVIE "PROP MEN" ARE CLOCK-WATCHERS, BUT NOT, NECESSARILY, IN THE POPULARLY ACCEPTED SENSE

HOLLYWOOD, (AP) — Clocks and calendars, between them, furnish your motion picture property man with more worries than all the rest of the problems he must face during production of a picture.

It wasn't so bad a few years ago, before the theater-going public became "movie boner" conscious, but now a great many of the millions who attend the movies spend their time looking for a trivial error to write letters to the studio.

And most of the errors occur where clocks and calendars appear in scenes, the prop men say. There are a few of this craft who swear that people go to the movies only to watch the clocks and calendars for "boners."

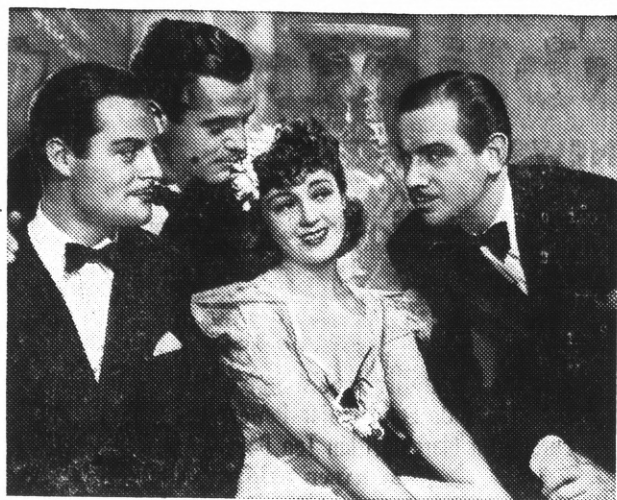

It wouldn't be so bad if the studios shot their films in continuity, but they don't and won't. Thus it is up to the prop man to make sure that when Pat O'Brien leaves the warden's office in "20,000 Years in Sing Sing" at 11:31 a. m. on Oct. 29, to escort John Garfield to the admitting office he doesn't reach the latter place at 4:30 p. m. on Nov. 12. If he does, he is sure to receive a deluge of letters couched in terms something like this:

"My goodness, what a big prison Sing Sing must be. It took O'Brien and Garfield exactly 14 days and five hours to walk from the warden's office to the admitting office."

A checkup will reveal that the two scenes were shot three weeks apart, but that does not relieve the prop man of his guilt. He is supposed to keep track of such things.

So three's a crowd, huh? But Joan Blondell isn't complaining in this scene from Columbia's sensational new comedy, "Good Girls Go to Paris," at the Empire Theatre Sunday and Monday. The trio in the above picture are Alexander D'Arcy, Alan Curtis and Melvyn Douglas. Miss Blondell's co-star, all of whom propose to the comedienne. So do two other young men, though, and that's what helps to make "Good Girls Go to Paris" a delightful comedy in the continental manner.

War Started 25 Years Ago

mobilize in defense of the Serbs. Germany notified France that if Russia mobilized against Austria-Hungary, Germany would mobilize. The Austrians next mobilized and the Russians followed immediately. The Germans then mobilized to fulfill their warnings and at virtually the same time the French did, too, but to show his pacific intentions and hopes, Viviani ordered the army of France to pull back two kilometers from the German border—a serious tactical mistake as events proved.

Under the coordinated general staff plans, the Russian were to send an army into East Prussia, but no Russian troops appeared there. Instead the Russians mobilized on the Austrian border, evidently picking the weaker force of the Central Powers. The French government stormed and ranted without success for days until finally the Russian ambassador in Paris, Isvolski and his military attache Capt. Ignatieff succeeded in convincing St. Petersburg to full the engagement and the Russians moved into East Prussia where Hindenburg and Ludendorff awaited them. The war was on.

Now, a quarter of a century later, it is possible for technicians to calculate the costs of a war which sent 10,000,000 men to their deaths, overthrew five thrones, sent two reigning families—Hapsburgs and Hohenzollerns—into exile, caused currencies to collapse and millions to suffer severe privations in the slow reconstruction years.

In the 52 months of war, 74,000,000 men and women were mobilized in the service of their countries. France lost one in every 28 men of its population; Germany one in every 32; Austria-Hungary one in 50; Great Britain one in 57; Italy one in 79; Belgium one in 200; United States one in every 2,000.

Germany lost 2,000,000 dead, 4,000,000 wounded; France 1,400,000 dead and 3,000,000 other casualties; Russia 1,700,000 dead, 5,000,000 wounded; Britain 900,000 dead, 1,500,000 wounded; Italy 51,000 dead, 1,000,000 wounded. Even Rumania had 158,000 killed; Bulgaria 100,000; and Belgium 38,000. Wartime deaths

"WHILE N. Y. SLEEPS," "GOOD GIRLS GO TO PARIS," AT EMPIRE

A mystery so bewildering that it has to be solved twice is the situation facing the Roving Reporters, Michael Whalen and Chick Chandler, in their latest escapade, "While New York Sleeps." 20th Century-Fox's thriller of murder at midnight in Manhattan, due Saturday at the Empire Theatre.

From mad Manhattan to gay Paree... Melvyn Douglas and Joan Blondell on a frantic, romantic laughing spree! Mel's a professor of Greek mythology who knows every goddess by her first name! It's all Greek to Joan, but she knows she has arms and that Venus dame didn't! She doesn't mind being a waitress if she doesn't have to wait too long!

And that's in store for Empire Theatre audiences when Columbia's "Good Girls Go to Paris" opens on Sunday for a two-day showing.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Snyder, of Fairplay, the latter the former Mrs. Bobby Cochran, are receiving good wishes of their friends following the announcement of their marriage several weeks ago at Carson City.

due to sickness provoked by the war or its privations added a further 3,000,000 toll in Europe alone.

The terrific cost of war which caused strong currencies to collapse exceeded 10,000,000,000,000 francs (ten trillions). That sum would be enough to give every family in the United States, France, Germany, Russia, Belgium, England and Canada a free house and lot.

Germany's public debt was expanded by the war 2,841 per cent, the United States, 2,025 per cent; Britain 948 per cent, France 392 per cent, Russia 486 per cent, Italy 333 per cent. By successive devaluations of national currencies, most of the European continental governments wiped out their war indebtedness. Even Switzerland, which was neutral and played no role in the war, but which had to prepare for its own defense, increased its national debt 856 per cent in those years.

In France after a quarter of a century, not all the old battlefields have been turned back to peaceful farmlands. In French soil, 700,000 nameless soldiers still lie buried in unmarked graves under the crops now being trampled down by young troops maneuvering into position to be ready for the next emergency.

Today's judgment of the effect of Lewis' blast on Garner's anti-third term candidacy for the 1940 democratic presidential nomination varied from the cautiously expressed belief that it would make no difference to emphatic assurances that it would deliver the nomination and the election to Garner.

"Holy Father, keep through thine own name those whom thou hast given me, that they may be one, as we are... Sanctify them through thy truth: thy word is truth." These words from John comprised the Golden Text used Sunday, July 23, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon was "Truth." Included among the Scriptural selections was: "I will praise thee, O Lord, among the people: and I will sing praises unto thee among the nations. For thy mercy is great above the heavens: and thy truth reacheth unto the clouds." (Ps. 108: 3, 4).

The following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, was also included: "Christian Science is the light of Truth and its supremacy, universal harmony, the oneness of God, good, and the nothingness of evil" (p. 293).

Jehoshaphat: A Life of Obedience

HIGHLIGHTS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON 7-29

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for July 30 is II Chronicles 17:1-19, the Golden Text being Matthew 6:33, "But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and His righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you.")

"SEEK YE first the kingdom of God, and His righteousness, and all these things shall be added unto you." That is what Jehoshaphat, son of King Asa, did, and good things, indeed, were "added unto him."

Jehoshaphat was 35 years old when he came to the throne, and his reign lasted 25 years. It was approximately from 876 to 851 B. C. The first thing he did was to strengthen the fortifications of his land. He placed forces in the walled cities of Judah, and in the cities of Ephraim, which his father, Asa, had taken.

All his life he tried to do what was right. He obeyed the law of God, walking in the way of his ancestor, David, and discouraging the worship of Baal. "His heart was lifted up in the ways of the Lord," says the Bible, "and he had riches and honor in abundance."

Teaches the People

In the third year of his reign he called his princes and sent them to teach the people of Judah. They went about through all the cities, we read, and taught the people out of the book of the law of the Lord. "And the fear of the Lord fell upon all the kingdoms of the lands that were round about Judah, so that they made no war against Jehoshaphat."

Philistines brought him tribute in silver, and Arabians brought great flocks and herds to him. Two battles Jehoshaphat had—one when he allied himself to Ahab, king of Israel, who was a wicked man, and who was killed in the battle against the Syrians in which Jehoshaphat fought, while Jehoshaphat was spared. Jehoshaphat's son married Ahab's daughter, and so good came of that marriage.

The second battle was with the children of Moab, the children of Ammon and others, a great multitude that prepared to overpower Jehoshaphat's people, but they trusted in the Lord, and he scattered their enemies so that they didn't even have to fight. They went out singing praises to the Lord, and the armies who had meant to attack the children of Judah, fought among one another, so that when Jehoshaphat's soldiers came to the battlefield they beheld only "dead bodies fallen to the earth, and none escaped."

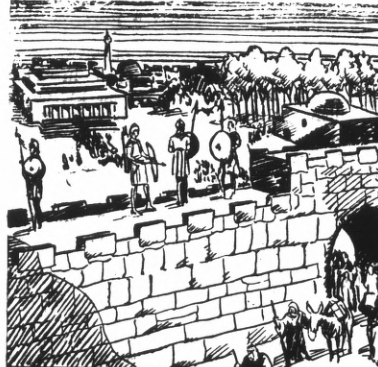

Obedience to God

The principal thought in today's lesson is obedience to God—to right. Because of Jehoshaphat's obedience the Lord "established the kingdom in his hand; and all Judah brought to Jehoshaphat presents; and he had riches and honor in abundance." The nation also had peace, so that the people could build up their cities and learn God's truths of Jehoshaphat's princes.

The rewards of the spirit also are sweet to the one who does what is right, as the people of Judah found. As the Bible picturesquely has it, in I Samuel 15:22, "Hath the Lord as great delight in burnt offerings and sacrifices as in obeying the voice of the Lord? Behold, to obey is better than sacrifice, and to hearken than the fat of rams."

You remember Jesus said: "The first of all the commandments is, Hear, O Israel; the Lord our God is one Lord: And thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength; and this is the first commandment."

As it was back in the time of Jehoshaphat and his people, and in the days when Jesus was on earth, so today are these two the only really great commandments, which, if we obey, we shall do all that can be expected of us: To love God and our neighbors as ourselves.

King Asa died and his son, Jehoshaphat, reigned in his stead; and Jehoshaphat garrisoned the walled cities.

And Jehoshaphat's "heart was lifted up in the ways of the Lord," and he had riches and honor in abundance.

And because of Jehoshaphat's goodness, there was peace, and the people were taught from the book of the Lord.

Philistines brought Jehoshaphat silver; and the Arabians brought him flocks. (GOLDEN TEXT—Matthew 6:33)

Oh where, oh, where is my wandering watermelon? About a month ago a watermelon was promised the winners of a Scout softball game, and we, being victors, demanded the spoils. After having waited for these many moons, we could hold our ravenous appetites in check no longer, so we chipped in, bought a melon, and treated ourselves. At the end of an hour, all that was left of the melon was a spot on Bob Combellack's shirt, a reminder of his forgetting to duck a flying piece of rind!

No, that wasn't smoke from a large forest fire just out of town, nor was it caused by the proverbial Scot digging for his lost penny. That tremendous dark cloud rising in the sky Tuesday evening was a by-product of a tent pitching contest between two enthusiastic rival patrols. All this bustle and bustle raised so much dust that three visitors from the Dust Bowl got homesick. Anyway, if the boys display as much vim, vigor, and vitality in setting up the coming over-nite camp, it's sure to be a success.—Bill Dillinger

Sports Parade

By HENRY McLEMORE

NEW YORK, (UP) — If I had to make a guess as to the happiest man in the United States I think I would name—no, not a playboy with millions, nor the president, nor Governor Dickinson, who already knows his wing and harp size, but Joe DiMaggio.

Yes, Joe DiMaggio, the dark-skinned, hatchet-faced Italian fisherboy who plays centerfield for the New York Yankees. He would be my nomination for pure and unadulterated happiness, 14-carat self satisfaction, and hand-dipped contentment.

He has seen the horizon and attained it—at 24. He has health and youth to begin with, and those are two commodities no one ever tried to sell short. He has money; more money than he ever thought existed in the world a few years ago when it was his job to scrub and clean his father's fishing boat when it pulled into San Francisco's Fisherman's Wharf.

He is the second or third highest paid player in baseball. In four years in the majors he has vaulted over the heads of the men whose names used to awe him, not only in the amount of the check that is handed him each month, but in fame. He knows, as he goes about his daily task of catching flies and hitting in runs, that he is the No. 1 man in baseball. There isn't a manager or owner in either league, who, if given his choice of players, wouldn't call his name above all others.

He mobbed at the ball park by admirers. His path along the streets, no matter in what city, is blocked by autograph and camera friends. No matter where he goes he is recognized, applauded, and given homage.

Joe DiMaggio actually must wonder how long a soft touch like baseball has been going on. He never had the weary, dreary years in the minors. Within three seasons he proved himself ready for the majors where the pay is good, the living comfortable. He never had the hard, long pull for recognition.

After that one season in the minors he moved right into the lineup of the Yankees, the richest, most successful club in baseball. His every season in the majors has been climaxed by a world series engagement, and most of the players in baseball would think fate had done its bit to get them in one world series.

And all the series have been winning ones, with Joe getting the gold and glory that goes to the star of the victorious team. He hasn't missed an all-star game, either. He made it his first year, as a rookie, and he has made it ever since.

And DiMaggio is really just beginning. With average luck he can look forward to 10 or more years of first class baseball. With better than average luck he can look forward to 15 more years under the big top. And with top billing, too.

The man has everything that he wants, even love. Yes, dear old, sweet old, boy and girl love. He is engaged to the girl he considers the "only girl in the world," and will be married soon after the world series in October.

Wish to hell I had taken up baseball.

Summer Sun Hazards

By Helen E. Holme
Beauty Counselor

CONTRARY to general belief, too much of the hot summer sun can do plenty of damage to one's health. The consensus of opinion among beauty and health experts, athletic directors and hair specialists is that going hatless in summer can be very harmful to one's hair, scalp, skin and health. The head, they claim, needs protection against the sun's intense rays.

Of particular interest to men is the statement by hair specialists that summer sun may lead to baldness. Their theory is that over-exposure will dry up the natural oil which is vital to healthy hair. Too much sun, they say, tends to make hair brittle, dry and lifeless which contributes to eventual baldness.

Health experts claim, furthermore, that many cases of heat exhaustion and sun stroke can be attributed directly to over activity under the sun's burning rays without proper protection of the head. They therefore urge the wearing of hats when exposed to the sun for any length of time.

Those men who cherish the fallacy that wearing a hat causes baldness may not have stopped to realize that a man does not become bald where his hat grips his head. Baldness usually occurs on the top of the head and besides, who ever heard of a woman going bald because she wore a hat?

While the ladies aren't concerned with baldness, specialists whose life work is to protect and enhance feminine beauty are equally rabid on the damaging effects of hatlessness under the sun's scorching rays. They claim that undue exposure to the sun dries the skin, fades and scorches the hair.

These casualties to beauty may be eliminated in part or in whole by wearing a hat. The brim of a hat, say the beauty experts, casts a welcome shadow. It protects the eyes from squinting and untimely crow's feet and keeps milady's fair skin from becoming dry and wrinkled.

In conclusion, it is interesting to note that even in semi-tropical countries such as the south of France, ladies always wear hats to protect their eyes, skin and hair. In fact, the farther south one goes, the larger and more adequate are the hats worn by native men and women. And even in the poorest of the West Indian islands, black folks all wear hats to protect their heads though the rest of their clothing may be sparse.

Wildlife Skunk Stamp Held "Last Straw"

LINCOLN, Neb., (UP)—A northern Nebraska physician will use more care hereafter in selecting wildlife conservation stamps on his correspondence.

An indignant patient replied that the physician's latest monthly statement was the "last straw." The letter bore a stamp containing the likeness of a skunk, with no explanation of its connection with national wildlife conservation week.
